BACHELOR OF ARTS

Interdisciplinary Studies

Program Description

The Department of Interdisciplinary Studies aims to develop protean graduates capable of viewing and addressing world realities from an interdisciplinary perspective.

The Department offers a four-year Bachelor of Arts in Interdisciplinary Studies (AB-IDS) program that provides students opportunities to define and design career track that suits their individual learning and career goals. The core curriculum offers theoretical and practical tools to integrate knowledge, drawn from 2 disciplines like Psychology and Education, Public Management and Communication, Information Technology and Business Management, or any combination of two disciplines within or across Colleges.

Given the variety of programs in the AB-IDS curriculum, graduates have diverse career opportunities whether in media, human resources management, public relations and corporate communications, information technology, sales and marketing, entrepreneurship, government services, to name a few.

Program Learning Outcomes

In line with the Institutional Mission Statement, the Program aims to produce graduates who are able to:

1. Apply multidisciplinary approaches to analyzing and solving contemporary issues/needs in the light of human-social development principles, self-reflection, and well-discerned decisions, specific to their respective field of interests.
2. Articulate thoughts, ideas, and feelings effectively and confidently in different settings and for various audiences, the identified social-development needs in verbal, written and/or multi-media form in English, Filipino, and/or the vernacular.
3. Use appropriate and relevant information and communication technology or other modern technologies effectively and efficiently to convey messages beneficial to the society and the Church.
4. Design and implement development plans using investigative skills alongside self-reflection, multidisciplinary approaches and innovative technological tools that are responsive to contemporary issues/needs.
5. Monitor and assess responsibly the development plans vis-à-vis human-social development principles/framework anchored on Christian Gospel values.
6. Adhere to the Christian ethical/moral standards and practices of human-social development to nurture one's relationship with God, with others, with the self, and with the environment.
7. Collaborate with multi-sectoral stakeholders in identifying, designing, implementing, monitoring, and assessing development plans in order to arrive at well-discerned decisions in addressing contemporary social-development issues/needs.
8. Conduct multi-disciplinary research as an effective instrument towards providing scientific and concrete solutions to social-development issues/needs, and confidently share research findings in different settings and with various audiences.
9. Pursue with responsibility and accountability the life-long learning experiences and skills to continue discovering new knowledge for personal and professional growth in order to adapt to the changing and complex world of work and life.

Admission Requirements

A student seeking admission to the program must comply with the following:

1. accomplished Program application form;
2. all copies of grades-high school grades and admission test scores (if entering freshman); latest evaluation printout (if a shiftee); transcript of records and admission test scores (if a transferee); or transcript of records and latest evaluation printout (if shiftee and a former transferee);
3. endorsement/recommendation from previous school/program officer;
4. any other additional requirement/document that may be set by the Department Chair, on a case-to-case basis; and
5. interview with the Department Chair.

Retention Policies

A student is retained in the program if he/she:

1. maintains a satisfactory cumulative GPA in all subjects taken for the duration of the programs;
2. does not exceed six (6) units of withdrawn subjects during the preceding term;
3. maintains a GPA of 80 in all major subjects and career track electives taken for the duration of the program;
4. earns grades of at least 80 for subjects applied for credit as a free elective; and

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Psychology

Program Description

The AB Psychology program is anchored on a liberal arts education which aim to train students to analyze understand and appreciate the complexities of human mental processes and behavior and equip them with knowledge, skills and values to perform tests in various settings such as school, industry and community. This will prepare them for other career opportunities in Guidance and Counseling, Early Childhood Education, Forensic Psychology, Law, Human Resource Development and Clinical work.

Students enrolled in the program have options whether to take A.B. in Psychology only or opt to have additional certificates in Marketing, and Human Resources Management by enrolling specified courses in these fields.

Program Learning Outcomes

In line with the University Mission Statement, the program is designed to:

1. Demonstrate the capacity to critically analyze and effectively communicate the current major theories and concepts in psychology, and continually engage in discovering new knowledge, and synthesizes and evaluates from a multi-disciplinary approach using technology and innovative methods.
2. Demonstrate and apply the methods of psychological inquiry, guided by an awareness of their personal responsibility and accountability, in building knowledge on local culture and context using their critical thinking skills.
3. Demonstrate and apply psychological theories and methods in personal, professional and community settings conscious of being an instrument of God's redemptive action in the world.
4. Demonstrate the capability for critical thinking and investigative skills alongside self-reflection as part of their independent learning in graduate education or in the professional context.
5. Demonstrate professional and ethical behaviors in research and practice by articulating thoughts, ideas, and feelings tactfully rooted in Christian gospel values amidst the complexities and (uncertainties) in the world of work and life.
6. Demonstrate harmonious relationship with self, colleagues, clients and others in various settings, while promoting respect for diversity and differences.
7. Demonstrate critical thinking skills in the conduct of psychological assessment and evaluation, and other psychology-related functions such as, but not limited to, counseling/psychotherapy, training, and coaching, to help transform the community's situation for the better.
8. Demonstrate the capacity to analyze with flexibility, sensitivity and adaptability their study of the natural sciences and the environment without compromising Christian gospel values as a preparation for a career in medicine and allied disciplines.

Admission Requirements

Admission to the Program starts at the freshman year. To be admitted, a student should:

1. meet the requirements for general admission to the University;
2. pass a set of psychological tests;

3. must have a grade of 83% and above in Psych 1; and
4. meet the criteria set by the Screening Committee conducted during the second year of the program.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Biology

Program Description

The Bachelor of Science in Biology program is structured as a generalized framework of study with the end view of grounding students with the fundamental concepts and principles and theories of the biological, natural and physical sciences and the conduct of research. This includes the acquisition of appropriate skills and training to prepare them for either medical studies, biological research, tertiary teaching, environmental & microbiological works. The curriculum consists of course work in the classroom, laboratory and field/community as well as on- the- job trainings.

Program Learning Outcomes

The BS BIOLOGY program aims to accomplish the following graduate outcomes:

1. Competently communicate orally and/or in writing, their acquired breadth of fundamental biological concepts and technical/analytical competencies using both Filipino and English in different settings and for various audiences to convey a message that is significant to society and the Church.
2. Engage in the generation of new knowledge and/or development projects in the field of biological sciences through involvement in the evidence-based processes of science, in search of a solution to a specific problem and subsequently disseminating results to individuals within and outside the biological discipline.
3. Collaborate with multidisciplinary and multicultural teams to critically assess contemporary issues in biological thought and research, the contributions of biology to the resolution of diverse issues in human affairs, and the impact of these solutions in a global and societal context.
4. Preserve and promote Filipino historical and cultural heritage by conserving and protecting our natural resources, in the context of Lasallian spirituality.

Admission Requirements

Admission to the program starts at the freshman year. To be admitted, a student should:

1. meet the requirements for general admission to the university;
2. manifest serious interest in the natural sciences; and
3. demonstrate diligence, dedication and determination.

Retention Policies

To be retained in the BS Biology Program, a student should:

1. not incur failures in two major subjects in one semester; and
2. not have accumulated failures of 18 units or more.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Psychology

Program Description

The BS Psychology program is intended for college students who wish to proceed to Medicine proper or become potential human resource assets in a school, industrial, social/community, clinical/rehabilitation setting, research center and other organizations where interpersonal skills and competencies in human relations are important components.

Students enrolled in the program will have options whether to take B.S. in Psychology only or opt to have additional certificates in Marketing, and Human Resource Management by enrolling specified courses in these fields.

Program Learning Outcomes

In line with the University Mission Statement, the program is designed to:

1. Demonstrate the capacity to critically analyze and effectively communicate the current major theories and concepts in psychology, and continually engage in discovering new knowledge, and synthesizes and evaluates from a multi-disciplinary approach using technology and innovative methods.
2. Demonstrate and apply the methods of psychological inquiry, guided by an awareness of their personal responsibility and accountability, in building knowledge on local culture and context using their critical thinking skills.
3. Demonstrate and apply psychological theories and methods in personal, professional and community settings conscious of being an instrument of God's redemptive action in the world.
4. Demonstrate the capability for critical thinking and investigative skills alongside self-reflection as part of their independent learning in graduate education or in the professional context.
5. Demonstrate professional and ethical behaviors in research and practice by articulating thoughts, ideas, and feelings tactfully rooted in Christian gospel values amidst the complexities and (uncertainties) in the world of work and life.
6. Demonstrate harmonious relationship with self, colleagues, clients and others in various settings, while promoting respect for diversity and differences.
7. Demonstrate critical thinking skills in the conduct of psychological assessment and evaluation, and other psychology-related functions such as, but not limited to, counseling/psychotherapy, training, and coaching, to help transform the community's situation for the better.
8. Demonstrate the capacity to analyze with flexibility, sensitivity and adaptability their study of the natural sciences and the environment without compromising Christian gospel values as a preparation for a career in medicine and allied disciplines.

Admission Requirements

Admission to the program starts on the student's freshman year. To be admitted, a student should:

1. meet the requirements for general admission to the university;
2. pass the psychological tests; and
3. must have a grade of 83% and above in Psych 1; and
4. meet the criteria set by the Screening Committee conducted during the second year of the program

Retention Policies

To be retained in the program, the student must:

1. pass and maintain a Grade of 83% or better in all the professional courses; failure in any of these courses will mean no readmission; and
2. actively participate in the Psych Society and the Psychology Department's co-curricular activities.
